FAMILY HERITAGE OF THE VIRGINIAS

1. Thomas "The Elder"¹ Meades,¹ born 1612, in Suffolk County, Bristol, England,¹ died 6 Jun 1658, in Virginia.¹ He married (1) Sarah [--?--]. He married (2) Sarah.¹

From the book "Our Colonial Meador Ancestors" by Victor Paul Meadors

"At present nothing is known of the early years of Thomas Meads. The first records of this name are in the headright grants by the Governor of the Jamestown Colony; a Thomas Meades surrendered his headright grant of 50 acres of land in 1636 to John Gater of Elizabeth City . This grant was reconfirmed two years later when it was combined and reissued with two others, and Thomas Meades is again shown as surrendering his 50 acres.

"While there is no proof that this Thomas was our ancestor, no other suitable immigration record has been found. While the date shown is possibly several years behind the actual entry of the transaction, due to the usual delay in confirming and recording grants, certainly the available evidence points to this as the approximate time of his arrival. This would indicate that the age of Thomas was similar to that of Ambrose Meador, whose headright was also granted in 1636.

"The name of Thomas Meads is next found in the records of Lancaster County, Virginia, in 1653, at which time he purchased 700 acres of land from William Underwood . As detailed in the previous chapter, Underwood was granted 1400 acres on the northeast shore of the Rappahannock River, between Milleck Creek (sometimes known as Willimson's Creek, but now known as Ball's Creek) and Bushwood Creek (now known as Little Carter Creek). The portion purchased by Thomas Meads appears to have been the lower half of this grant, which was the portion falling next to Milleck Creek. Here Thomas established his home on higher ground behind and excellent river landing. This place still appears on modern maps as "Islington Landing", but this name does not seem to have been applied to the area until a hundred years later, for it does not appear in early records.

"It is important to note that the above purchase could not have been made by Thomas, the son of Ambrose Meador, as that son was no more than 16 to 18 years old, too young for such a deed. This transaction is of such magnitude as would indicate a man of moderate wealth, a status hardly to be expected of a younger son. This distinction becomes more apparent later in the will of Thomas Meads the elder. But because they lived less than two miles apart, it is rather difficult to separate the records of these two Thomas Meadors, as well as those of the son of the elder Thomas. Nevertheless, it would appear likely that the following entries are for the elder Thomas Meads.

"An entry in Lancaster records in 1653 concerns an indentured servant of Thomas Meads name Bour Harrison, who ran away and was returned, for which he was sentenced by the court to serve an additional nine months at the expiration of his term of indenture . It should be noted that many children were bound out to earn their support of to learn a trade, particularly orphan children. When the age of 17 years was reached they were discharged, with a suit of new clothes and provisions, or to keep the results of their labors if they chose to stay. Many fared far better under this arrangement than they would have otherwise. "Another entry concerns two cows sold by Thomas Meads in 1653 to Minor Doeders . As all cattle had been imported originally from England, they were quite valuable at this time and were often mentioned in wills. Thomas Meads was appointed constable on April 6,1654, with the oath administered by James Williamson . As a reflection of his standing in the community, the plantation of Thomas Meads was chosen in February, 1654, as the rallying point for a small army of volunteers who marched from his grounds overland to the village of the Rappahannock Indians to obtain a peace treaty (see chapter on the Indians and Bacon's Rebellion). Undoubtedly the excellent landing at Thomas's plantation and the proximity of the Indian village, which was perhaps near the site of the present town of Warsaw, had some influence in this choice. In September/October, 1654 Thomas Meads tithed for 3 male adults . The levy (tax) was 60 pounds of tobacco per poll. "The remaining records of Thomas Meads (Meades, Meader) in Lancaster County concern his will and the court deliberations over the distribution of his estate. The will was written March 5,1654; but it should be noted that under the Julian calendar then in effect the year was not changed until March 25th, so that in modern terms the year would actually be 1655. The will was entered for probate 3 months later on June 6,1655; it also bears the date June 12, 1655, perhaps added by the copyist. (See the reproduction as it appears in the actual records.). It reads as follows :

"The Will of Thomas Meads/Meador "The last will & testament of Tho. Meads made the 5th day of March (54.) Imp ^Nd. I do bequeath my body to the Earth & my soul to God that gave it. I do make my wife my sole & absolute Exch.. I do give to my wife & daughter Mary this plantation that I now live upon and all the land on this side of the Creek, and the sd. plantation not to be my daughter's 'till after my wife's decease. I do give to my two sons Tho. & John Meads all the land that is on the west side of the Creek provided that they pay unto my two daughters Margaret & Joyce out of the s. land two thousand pounds of tob. & cask at their day of marriage, and in case either of the[m] die that the sd. tob. to belong to the survivor. I do give unto my wife & sons & my daughters above mentioned all my goods and chattels after my debts are paid and that they shall equally divided amongst them. I do give to my daughter Anne all the cattle that belongeth to her which is about five head of cattle, likewise I do give unto her one shilling in money. This is my last will & testament as witness my hand the day & year above written.

awleigh Travers 12 da. Juny 1655 John Richardson Edward Bradshaw (his mark) pbat. 6 da. Juny 1655 "It should be pointed out here that the will presently exists only as a third-hand copy. Of course, the actual will itself was not filed in the record book --the will was copied by the clerk. That original record book no longer exists. In the early 1700's many of the badly deteriorated volumes were laboriously hand-copied for preservation, this book among them. So what we have today is a copy of a copy, and copying errors are to be expected. Certainly the signature to the will is not that of Thomas Meads, and the spelling may well be questioned. Early day penmanship (as anyone attempting to read these early documents will testify) was such that it was often impossible to distinguish between an "o" or "e", or a terminal "s" or "r". That the signature of Thomas Meads was written out, perhaps even the entire will, and those of the witnesses (except for Edward Bradshaw) (and Rawleigh Travers who was the county sheriff), indicates a degree of literacy for Thomas and his witnesses. "Probate of the will was granted to George Bryer, a neighbor, and as was the custom, an appraisal of the estate was ordered by the court . This appraisal was done by four men, including Ambrose Meador and Francis Gower, and was returned to the court December 10,1655 . The value was established as 17,502 pounds of tobacco, equivalent at the time to about 109 pounds sterling, a respectable, though not huge, sum for the time. Because "hard" money was scarce in the colonies, everything was valued in terms of its worth in tobacco, on as sort of barter system. "As testified by the will, Thomas Meads left a widow, two sons, and four daughters. Quite possibly all these children were under legal age, since at the time when Thomas had entered the country some nineteen years or so before, he had been single. His son Thomas Jr. seems to have been the oldest, but was still under the legal age, as in the court session of August 6, 1655 Thomas Meads, orphan, petitioned the court that William Underwood be appointed his guardian. Further, it was ordered that the estate of Thomas Meades, deceased, then in the hands of George Bryer, be delivered to Underwood . "In January, 1655 (actually 1656 by modern dating), the Lancaster Court found that the estate was still undivided and in the hands of George Bryer. The court then ordered four men, again including Ambrose Meador and Francis Gower, to divide the estate according to the will of the deceased . "It will be seen from the above records that not only did Ambrose and Thomas Meads (Meador) live less than two miles apart, but that there was considerable participation by Ambrose in the affairs of Thomas. Yet we find no statement in the records of their relationship, though many opportunities for such a simple expression as "brother" or "cousin" were passed by, leaving the question unresolved. "Nor are the records clear about the fate of the unnamed widow of her children, except for the daughter Mary, as will be seen in a succeeding chapter. There is only one reference that daughter Joyce was in the custody of William Underwood ; that is all. "The land mentioned in the will of Thomas Meads appears to have been the 700 acres that had been purchased from William Underwood. The creek mentioned in the will is not identified there, but a plot of this tract reveals that it would have been divided roughly in half by the lower section and first branch of what is called "Juggs Creek" today. This would imply that approximately 350 acres west of "Juggs Creek would have been intended for sons Thomas (Jr.) and John, while the remaining 350 acres east of the creek was to go to daughter Mary, after the death of her mother. "The tract was still undivided in December, 1658, when Thomas Meades (the orphan) contracted to sell 25 acres of his portion to James Haire , "that was given to me by my father, Thomas Meades, deceased, and to my brother (name missing) in case that part of the land...shall fall to my lott at the dividing of the said land." In actuality, it is found through later deeds that Mary obtained possession of the entire 700 acre tract, but in what manner is unknown. Perhaps the portion allotted to Thomas was exchanged for rights to the grant on Hoskins Creek. Further disposition of the property is covered in the chapter on Mary Meads Hobbs and in the chapter titled "Islington Plantation". "Nor does the will of Thomas Meads make mention of grant lands on Hoskins Creek, south of the Rappahannock River, possibly because these grants had not been finalized. Yet, a grant in 1664 applying to the 450 acres on Hoskins Creek indicates that the grant had been left to Thomas Meader, orphan, by the will of his father, Thomas Meader, deceased . Thus, we have evidence that the elder Thomas Meader (Meads, Meades) bought from John Cooke this 450 acre tract, which descended after his death to his son, Thomas Meader, orphan. While this series of transactions was recorded in 1664 (long after Thomas Meads had made his will and died), it would appear possible that the actions were started about the time Thomas Meads died, and were carried to completion later by Thomas Meader, orphan. The fact that he did not yet possess the land on Hoskins Creek may explain why Thomas Meads (the elder) did not include mention of it in his will. Of course, one could conclude that there was yet another Thomas Meades who was the recipient of the grant. But this would require that there be a second pair of Thomas Meaders father and son, with the further coincidence that the son would be known as Thomas Meader, orphan. A review of the lineage on Ambrose Meador in the previous chapter will reveal that such a father/son combination did not exist among the descendants. This is a vital link in determining our lineage, for subsequent deeds for this 450 acre tract make clear that, after the land was inherited by (3) John Meador from his father, Thomas Meador, orphan, the lineage is unmistakable. "In summary, it has been found that (1) Thomas Meads let only two surviving heirs to his property, son (2) Thomas Meader and daughter (2) Mary Meads Hobbs. These will be covered in the following chapters. "Note: The use throughout this chapter, as well as in the remainder of the book, of the name "Thomas Meads" is not intended to add to the confusion, but to promote clarity. This reference has been chosen solely because this is the spelling most often encountered in the old records. However, divergent spellings are often found (and have been used in the text in this connection), but should be understood to refer to the first ancestor in our lineage. The name "Meador" has been used for the remainder of the family members because this is the spelling preferred by the majority of these descendants. Many variant spellings are in evidence, and generally should not be regarded as indicating a different individual."

2. Thomas Meadows² (Meador)^{1,2} (Thomas "The Elder"¹), born about 1636,^{1,2} died before 1662.^{1,2} He married Sarah Hoskins.¹

From "Our Colonial Meador Ancestors" by Victor Paul Meadors "Thomas Meador (called orphan) apparently was close to legal age at the death of his father, (1) Thomas Meads, in 1655, because he was able to make a legal deed in 1658 . Much heretofore has been made of his having to be between 14 and 17 years of age to choose his own guardian, but under English common law, 21 was generally considered to be the age responsibility. Thus. it must be considered that Thomas, the son, was born as early as 1636 or 1637 to have attained 21 years of age by 1658. This also would appear likely in view of his marriage, which must have occurred about this time. "In the deed mentioned above, Thomas Meador contracted the sell to James Haire "25 acres of land, being part of the land that was given unto me by my father, Thomas Meades deceased, and to my brother (name missing)." This confirms his parentage and that he had a brother, who is given in the father's will as John Meador. This 1658 deed was signed by Thomas with a unique mark, a cross with barred ends, a signature found nowhere else in the county records. "Records of the distribution of the estate of the senior Thomas Meades are missing, so one cannot say just how the lands willed to Thomas and his brother John ended up in the possession of their sister Mary. One could speculate that the lands were traded to Mary for the rights to the two grants on Hoskins Creek, on the south side of the Rappahannock River, of which Thomas Meador (orphan) became possessed. "Of these two grants, the first one recorded was made to the younger Thomas Meador, of 320 acres for the transportation of seven persons to the colony, recorded June 3,1663 . Sufficient data survives to permit the plotting of this tract. The grant shows a peculiar characteristic, in that it requires a southeasterly flowing section of Hoskins Creek roughly 181 poles (2986 feet) long, whereas the major portion of Hoskins Creek flows easterly. Of three possible locations along the creek where it flows southeasterly for that length, one would eliminate by its location two near the mouth of the creek, whereas the grant specified that it was toward the head of the creek. Another is eliminated by its encroachment upon property granted to Henry Awbrey further upstream, which also requires a similar-flowing southeast section. The area best fitting the requirements lies at what is known today as "Cheatwood Millpond". This location is just southeast of Rexburg, Virginia, and seven miles west of Tappahannock, county seat of Essex County. "The 320 acre grant later became the property of (3) John Meador, who sold it to Ebenezer Stanfield in 1679 . The deed states that the grant was to Thomas Meador, father of the said John Meador, thus confirming this parentage. Stanfield devised the property to his daughter, Rebecca, who married John Williams, Jr., and they later disposed of the property, which never again returned to the ownership of Meador descendants. "The second of the two grants was for 450 acres, also near the head of Hoskins Creek . It was first granted to

Thomas Browning on November 30, 1657. It was then assigned to John Cooke in 1659, and he in turn assigned it to Thomas Meader (senior). Before this series of transactions was finally recorded on April 9, 1664, Thomas Sr. had died and the property descended to his son, Thomas Meader, orphan. The above series of actions is recorded in the wording of the grant (see copy). As noted in the previous chapter on (1) Thomas Meads, this 450 acre tract was not mentioned in the will of Thomas Meads, probably because the above actions had not been finalized and the grant issued. "By plotting these two grants (see map), it can be seen that they lay side by side on the south side of Hoskins Creek, with the 450 acre grant upstream (west) of the 320 acre grant, and that they shared a common boundary. Both grants were recorded after the apparent death of (2) Thomas Meador, orphan. "The 450 acre grant (made to Thomas Meador, orphan) clearly became the property of (3) John Meador, who divided it among the children of his first wife. Portions were also divided among the children of his second wife through the terms of John's will. A descendant, (5) William Meador, in a deed in 1728 and another in 1734, continued the lineage from his great-grandfather Thomas Meador through John, Richard, and himself, making the descent of the property and lineage involved unquestionable. The genealogy of the Meador family from (1) Thomas Meads is thus established to that point. "No documentation has been found to show explicitly that Thomas Meader, orphan, was also known as Thomas Meador, the younger. Nevertheless, the only other Thomas Meador found in the area at that time was Thomas, the son of Ambrose Meador, as discussed in the previous chapter. It would appear that the known facts fit more logically with the conclusion that Thomas, orphan, and Thomas the younger were one and the same. Particularly, Thomas, orphan, is the only one who was also the son of an elder Thomas, thus requiring the description, "the younger". "This latter phrase is found in two documents made by a Sarah Meador, in which, describing herself as the widow of Thomas Meador the Younger, she declared her obligation to her three children in April, 1662. Such declarations were commonly made by those contemplating remarriage. In the first document, Sarah provided for the maintenance and education of her children, promising them four years of schooling apiece. (At this period, most children received only a year.) In the second, Sarah gave her son John Meador a yoke of oxen and "one gun, seven foot by the barrel", to be delivered to him when he came of age. To her daughter Susannah she gave a red cow called "Cherry" and her increase. To her daughter Mary she gave a black heifer called "Slippery". We learn also that Susannah was several years less than 11 years old, and that Mary was less than 9 years old. Since the marriage of Thomas Meador the Younger (or orphan) took place no earlier than 1657 or 1658, all three children would have been infants at that time. "No documentation has thus far been found to specify who Sarah Meador then married. Nonetheless, it should be noted that a very prominent, highly influential and prosperous settler of the same area, Henry Awbrey, about this time took a wife named Sarah, who may well have been Sarah Meador, widow. Further discussion on this point will be made in this chapter. Perhaps older than Sarah, Henry Awbrey is rumored to have married in England; however, no trace of such wife or surviving children of such a marriage has been found in Virginia records. Sarah is first mentioned as his wife in 1664, when Henry appointed her his attorney to collect debts due him in his absence. She again appears in 1670 as party to a sale of Henry Awbrey and herself of a tract of 300 acres on land on the north side of the Rappahannock River. "Her name again appears in 1672 as party to another deed, but no further reference to her has been found. When Henry Awbrey made his will in 1694, he named his wife as Mary. "The above mentioned deed for 300 acres north of the Rappahannock has caused considerable confusion among researchers. While it is true that a Thomas Meador once owned this property as stated in the deed, this was Thomas, the son of Ambrose Meador, instead of Thomas (orphan), son of Thomas Meads. After Ambrose purchased 1000 acres from James Williamson in 1656, he sold 300 acres from that tract to his son, Thomas. This 300 acres was then divided in half by Thomas, who sold 150 acres to Richard Tomlinson in 1657 and 150 acres to Lambert Lambertson in 1658. Lambertson further divided his tract into 75 acre plots, which were then further sold. While it may seem unlikely that these various small plots could have been reassembled back into a single 300 acre tract, the evidence points to that event. The remaining 700 acres of the 1000 acres purchase by Ambrose Meador can be fully accounted for. There is no indication that Ambrose purchased additional land from Williamson, nor that he sold more to his son, Thomas. Yet the deed from Henry and Sarah Awbrey states that the property was from the purchase by Ambrose Meador out of the grant to James Williamson, and from the portion sold by Ambrose to his son Thomas. "Regardless of the subdivision and the further sales, this deed could easily lead one to believe that Sarah had inherited the property as the widow of Thomas, the son of Ambrose. But a more likely explanation is that the property was reassembled by Henry Awbrey into a single tract, for which no records remain. Several instances have been noted in which property reverted to the original owner, evidently when the purchaser had defaulted in paying the purchase price. But in this case reversion to Thomas, the son of

Ambrose, would appear quite unlikely in view of the many subsequent continuing sales by several individuals. In any case, it should be noted that Thomas, son of Ambrose, and Thomas, son of Thomas, both must have died about the same time, which certainly adds to the possible confusion between the two men. "Henry Awbrey was Burgess of the County Court of old Rappahannock County and was a trustee in the formation of the portion of New Plymouth in 1682 (see the later chapter on Bacon's Rebellion), which became Tappahannock. For the last two years of his life he was also Sheriff , perhaps an honorary position in view of his age. He received many grants of land for the transportation of persons to the colonies. One of these was for 1050 acres on the south side of Hoskins Creek in 1664, just upstream from the 450 acres granted to Thomas Meador, orphan. This site became Awbrey's home plantation . Other grants were for 480 acres in 1669 , and for 5100 acres in 1679 , lying between Hoskins Creek, Piscattaway Creek, and the Mattaponi River; for 189 acres on Occupacia Creek in 1684 , and for 1200 acres on the north side of Hoskins Creek in 1688 . "The number of children of Henry Awbrey is not completely clear. Some researchers have maintained that there were sons named John and Francis; instead, these appear to have been sons of his brother, John Awbrey. It should be noted that in two deeds in 1690 , Henry named Richard Awbrey as his "only son and heir apparent". In one of these deeds he gave Richard 500 acres from the 1050 acre grant on the south side of Hoskins Creek, which portion adjoined the lands of John Meador. When Henry Awbrey made his will in 1694¹² , he named as heirs only his wife Mary and his son Richard. "It appears quite certain that Richard Awbrey was the son of Sarah, because in a deed in 1675 Henry gave his son Richard a year-old mare called "Bonny" "until said Richard be 14 years of age". Thus, Richard would have been born after 1661-1662, when Henry and Sarah apparently were married. "When Richard Awbrey made his will, which was probated October 11, 1697 , he named John Meador as "brother". Considerable speculation has arisen about the exact nature of this relationship. Some have said that the term "brother" could have meant "brother-in-law", on the assumption that John Meador (for his second wife) could have married a daughter of Henry Awbrey and thus a sister to Richard. No such daughter of Henry Awbrey has been documented. Another speculation has been that Richard's wife, Dorothy, was a sister of John Meador. Nor has such a sister been found. In actuality, Richard's wife was Dorothy North, daughter of Augustine North . "Richard Awbrey also named as "sister" Susannah McQuire, the wife of Phillip McQuire, both of whom were witnesses to his will. A bequest was also made to Francis Gouldman (it has been thought possible that Mary, the younger daughter of

Thomas and Sarah Meador, could have married Gouldman, whose wife was named Mary). Thus we find that at least two of the children of Thomas and Sarah Meador, John and Susannah, are named by Richard Awbrey as "brother" and "sister". Actually, it would appear that they were his half-brother and half-sister. "At this time, there was only one John Meador living. As we have seen in the chapter on Ambrose Meador, his son John and his grandson John were both deceased by 1683. His great-grandson John, and the son of Thomas (son of John, the son of Ambrose) was not born until after 1700. So we must consider here only the John Meador who was in possession of the 450 acre grant on Hoskins Creek at this time. "In that grant, it is stated that it was being made to Thomas Meador, orphan, son of Thomas Meador, deceased. As no such father and son pair (both named Thomas) existed in the family of Ambrose Meador, it must certainly have been the Thomas Meads who died in 1655 and his son Thomas. The further descent of this 450 acre tract through (3) John Meador is very clear. This grant adjoined the grant of Henry Awbrey on Hoskins Creek, and particularly the portion given by Henry to his son Richard Awbrey. It is most logical that Thomas Meador, orphan, and Thomas Meador the Younger were the same, and that Sarah Meador, the widow of Thomas Meador the Younger, who made provision for her son "John Meador of Hoskins Creek", was the wife of Henry Awbrey and the mother of Richard Awbrey. Thus the conclusion is virtually inescapable that Sarah was the mother of both John Meador and Richard Awbrey, making them half-brothers. This would explain why Richard called John Meador his "brother" in his will. " Regrettably, efforts to trace descendants of the other two children of Sarah Meador/Awbrey have proven nearly fruitless. No further mention in Essex records has been found of Phillip and Susannah McQuire. Col. Francis Gouldman became a prosperous and prominent landowner in St. Mary's Parish of Essex County, but when he drew his will in 1717 , he mentioned no (living) children. Bequests were made to his nephews, the sons of Edward Gouldman, and to his niece, the daughter of his brother Thomas Gouldman, deceased. Mary, the wife of Francis, followed him in death a few months later . In her will no children were mentioned, but there was a bequest to Dorothy Billups, who was the daughter of Richard Awbrey and thus her niece. "Two confusing court records of "the orphans of Francis Gouldman" actually refer to the two sons of his brother Edward, to whom Francis had left the major portion of his estate. Therefore, even if this Mary Gouldman could be established as the daughter of Thomas and Mary Meador, the direct lineage ends here. Curiously, no documents have been found relating to any interactions between these daughters, their husbands, and John Meador, nor between John Meador and Richard Awbrey. Such documentation would most certainly have made the determination of these relationships between them much easier.

Proved in Essex County Court Oct. 11,1697.] [alford1.FTW]

From "Our Colonial Meador Ancestors" by Victor Paul Meadors "Thomas Meador (called orphan) apparently was close to legal age at the death of his father, (1) Thomas Meads, in 1655, because he was able to make a legal deed in 1658 . Much heretofore has been made of his having to be between 14 and 17 years of age to choose his own guardian, but under English common law, 21 was generally considered to be the age responsibility. Thus. it must be considered that Thomas, the son, was born as early as 1636 or 1637 to have attained 21 years of age by 1658. This also would appear likely in view of his marriage, which must have occurred about this time. "In the deed mentioned above, Thomas Meador contracted the sell to James Haire "25 acres of land, being part of the land that was given unto me by my father, Thomas Meades deceased, and to my brother (name missing)." This confirms his parentage and that he had a brother, who is given in the father's will as John Meador. This 1658 deed was signed by Thomas with a unique mark, a cross with barred ends, a signature found nowhere else in the county records. "Records of the distribution of the estate of the senior Thomas Meades are missing, so one cannot say just how the lands willed to Thomas and his brother

Children of Thomas Meadows (Meador) and Sarah Hoskins:

- ii. Susannah Meadows.¹
- iii. Mary Meadows.
- iv. Mary Meadows.¹

3. John Meadows³ (Meador)^{1,2} (Thomas Meadows², Thomas "The Elder"¹), born 1658, in Lancaster County, Virginia,^{1,2} died 23 Nov 1721, in Essex County, Virginia.^{1,2} He married Elizabeth White^{1,2} about 1667. Elizabeth White was born about 1660,^{1,2} died 17 Aug 1694.^{1,2}

From the book "Our Colonial Meador Ancestors" by Victor Paul Meadors "As indicated in the preceding chapter on (2) Thomas Meador, no documentation has been found to show explicitly that Thomas Meador, orphan, and Thomas Meador the Younger are one and the same. This includes the lack of evidence to define that John Meador, the son of Thomas Meador, orphan, and John Meador, the only son of Thomas Meador the Younger and Sarah Meador, were the same. Nonetheless, as pointed out in that chapter, it appears that those facts which are known fit better with the conclusion that Thomas Meador, orphan, was also known as Thomas Meador the Younger. In the same sense, the known facts point quite conclusively that the John Meador who was the son of Thomas and Sarah Meador was the same John Meador, son of Thomas, orphan, who inherited the grants on Hoskins Creek. "On that basis, it would appear that this John Meador probably was born about 1658, because he apparently was of legal age August, 1679 . Thus he probably was about 4 or 5 years of age at the death of his father. Barring evidence to the contrary. it must be presumed that John spent his childhood with his mother Sarah and his step-father, Henry Awbrey, on Awbrey's plantation on the upper reaches of Hoskins Creek. AS noted in the preceding chapter his mother gave him a yoke of oxen and a gun. Marks for these oxen were registered , and marks for a black heifer were registered later for "John Meadors, son of Thomas Meadors of Hoskins Creek . The two registrations are essentially the same, except that the left and right sides of the cattle are interchanged. The strong similarity between the marks also would support the view that John Meador, son of Thomas, orphan, and John Meador, son of Thomas and Sarah, were the same. "For clarity it would be noted here that the records indicate that only two John Meadors were living in the area of the Northern Neck at this time. The one named above unmistakably was the son of Thomas Meador, orphan, who held the two grants on Hoskins Creek. The other, a much older man, was the son of Ambrose Meador and was born about 1633. Records of this latter John are found on Peumansend Creek in St. Mary's Parish, an area now part of Caroline County and quite distinct from the area on Hoskins Creek in South Farnham Parish where John, the son of Thomas, orphan, lived. "Of course, John could not occupy the grant lands of his father while a child, but apparently he did so upon attaining adult status. This seemingly coincided with his marriage to Elizabeth White, the daughter of Richard and Addra White. Record of the date of this marriage has not been found, but it must have been between July, 1677 and February, 1678. On the first date, Elizabeth was still single when she signed as witness to a deed , while on the latter date she and John Meador were deeded the plantation of her father, Richard White, "out of kindness and affection" for the care and maintenance of himself and his wife for the remainder of their lives . "Richard White had come from England before December 12, 1654, as on that date he was granted 500 acres in Lancaster County "opposite Nanzemond Towne", an Indian village . Certainly of some means, he had paid for his own passage and that of six others; the headright grants made to him in 1658 were for Richard and Adria White, their son Thomas, and four others . His status is also indicated by the sale of 1500 acres on the south side of the Rappahannock River to Robert Taliaferro in 1666 which had been granted by Governor Berkeley the year before. In 1658 he shared with Evan Davis and Samuel Mann a grant for 1000 acres , and in 1664 he received the grant for 300 acres on the north side of Hoskins Creek which became his home plantation. This ground was opposite the grant lands of John Meador on the south side of the creek. In 1670, White sold 130 acres to John Waggoner . His last record was March 3,1690 , when he signed as witness to a deed. "The relationship between Richard White and the numerous other White families in the area has not been established, nor has his connection, if any, to the Whites prominent in the early history of the Puritan Church. Richard and Addra (Adria, Audry) White had at least two children, Thomas and Elizabeth. Thomas was evidently born before the voyage from England, as his father claimed headright for him. He was slain by Indians in a raid on the plantation in 1661 (see the chapter on Indian raids). Elizabeth seems to have been born after the passage to the colony, perhaps in about the same period as John Meador. Richard White described himself as a cooper (maker of tobacco casks). "Soon after his marriage, John Meador sold the 320 acre grant of his father to Ebenezer Stanfield , which was inherited by Rebekah Stanfield, and when she married John Williams, Jr. they sold it to James Fullerton . It never again was in the possession of the Meador family. John Meador made the 450 acre grant lands his home plantation, and this was the land later inherited by his children and grandchildren. "In 1689, John purchase from Edwin Thacker of Middlesex County and additional 105 acres which adjoined the 450 acre plantation on the south. He also received and additional 190 acres adjoining this 450 acre tract for the transportation of four persons to the colony . And for the transportation of one more, and additional headright grant of 50 acres on April 21,1690 which adjoined his own land and that of Henry Awbrey on the main "swamp" of Hoskins Creek. "Thus we see that by the early 1690's John Meador held at least 1095 acres of land centered on the grant of 450 acres and straddling Hoskins Creek just upstream from the location now called Cheatwood Millpond (see map). "Apparently Elizabeth White Meador, John's wife, died before the close of 1694. Anticipating a second marriage and wanting to ensure their rights of inheritance, John made a deed of gift on December 10,1695 , dividing the bulk of his holdings among his children. Through this deed, we learn that he had by this time sons Richard, Thomas. John Jr., and Hope; and daughters Rachel, Elizabeth and Esther. These lands were "never to be sold or disposed of, but to remaine from heir to heir as long as there can be one of ye Meadors found alive". However, we will see that within a few years the major portion of these lands passed into other hands. "The firstborn son of John and Elizabeth was Richard, named for his grandfather White. He is first named in a deed of gift by Abraham Coombe on October 16,1683 (previously reviewed in the chapter on Ambrose Meador). In adult life, Richard followed the "cooper" profession of his grandfather as well. The order of birth of the other children cannot be determined.

"All left heirs to receive their share of these undivided lands except Hope, who died before 1721 without issue. The 150 acres given to him would appear to have been the easternmost portion of the 450 acre grant, and reverted to his father upon his death. It is not clear whether (3(John retained a portion of the 1095 acres for himself, or if it was all deeded to those children he had by Elizabeth. "Widower John Meador then married a second time, but the name of this second wife cannot be determined. To this second marriage were born two more daughters and four more sons (making thirteen children in all). They were Dinah, Mary, Jonas, Job, Jason and Joshua. It has been suggested that the latter two were twins, because of the statement in John's will that "they are to be of age at 17", seemingly implying that they were of the same age. "Nearing 63 years of age, John Meador became aware of his approaching death, and made his will October 17,1721 . It was presented in court for probate November 21,1721. The will recognized the surviving children of his first marriage with token bequests of a shilling apiece to Thomas, Rachel and Elizabeth. The other children by Elizabeth White, namely Richard, John Jr. and Esther, as well as Hope, had preceded him in death. Of the children of his second marriage, Dinah received a shilling and Mary a gold ring. Jonas was to receive a small piece of land, with the remaining lands to be equally divided among the four surviving sons. The disposition of these lands will be covered more thoroughly in the discussion of each of these children which follows. "The last resting place of John Meador and his family is at the present writing unknown. A visit to the old plantation now reveals no trace of the houses of cemeteries that once may have been there. The lands are now occupied by a large wheat field and by thick woods. A thorough exploration of the area may reveal the remnants of these early ancestors which is not apparent to the casual visitor. But certainly this wheat field of today must be the very ground once cleared by our ancestor, John Meador, planter, and the lands upon which he grew tobacco and Indian corn three hundred years ago.

"JOHN MEADOR'S DEED OF GIFT "Know all men by these presents that I, John Meador Senior, widower, in ye county of Essex in ye Parish of South Phernam, for ye love I bear to my children that I had by my wife Elizabeth Meador deceased, I doe hereby give them such persell of land that I shall set downe severall by themselves. "THE INDIANS and BACON'S REBELLION "From the founding of the Jamestown Colony in 1607, relations with the local Indian tribes had been a continuing problem. Resentment of the encroachment upon their traditional tribal lands had led to much unrest among the Indians.
The massacres of 1622 and 1644 took a great toll of the colonists. As the migration to the New World increased, the pressure for additional land caused the settlers to force the Indians from more and more areas. Despite many treaties with the natives and restrictive laws by the Jamestown authorities, the occupation of outlying areas
Pamunkey River; later this prohibition was only for the land above the Piscattaway and Totuskey Creeks. But many settlers filed claims upon the choice river front lands, and by 1646-1650 (as detailed in the first chapter) grants were being given along the Rappahannock River on these areas. The river valley was occupied principally by the Rappahannock Indians, with a few villages of Mattaponi, Moratticoes, Totuskeys, Portobagoes, and others. These tribes were forced into the forested lands behind the mile- deep grants. Behind the grants to James Williamson, William Underwood, and the land of Thomas Meads and others on the east bank of the river, the Rappahannock Indians had villages at Totuskey Creek, Cat Point Creek, and the present site of Warsaw. "Tension between the settlers and the Indians remained high, and there were recurring raids, for which the nearby Rappahannocks received most of the blame. In February, 1654 , a small army was raised, with 100 men from Lancaster County, 40 from Northumberland, and 30 from Westmoreland to meet the threat. They met at the plantation of Thomas Meades on the eastern shore, and were to march from thence to the village of the Rappahannocks (probably near Warsaw) to ensure peace, without provoking hostilities. The outcome is not recorded, but the Rappahannocks seemingly caused no trouble. "Not so with the Doegs, the Susquahannocks, and the Senecas (from Maryland), whose numerous raids into the northern colonies caused great hardships during the 1660's and 1670's. One such raid took place in 1661 at the plantation of Richard White (who later became the father-in-law of (3) John Meador). White's plantation lay on the north side of Hoskin's Creek, opposite that of John Meador. Though Richard White and his wife Addra escaped, their son Thomas White and two men were brutally murdered. An account of the results of this raid, as viewed by a committee of twelve men, forms a gruesome record . "The ninth day of September, Anno Domini 1661. We, the undersigned, being impaneled and sworn to Enquire into the deaths of the Englishmen lately murdered at the house of Richard White in the freshes of Rappahannock County, we went up to the said plantation and viewed the bodies and found the body of (....) ..amelly massacred in the house of the aforesaid White (....) his skull splitt on the forehead down to the (....) his skull beaten in the side of the head over the eyes. Moreover near the door of the said house we found the body of Thomas White, Sonn of the aforesaid Richard (....) striped naked with his skull beaten in over the eye, also we found the skull of Daniel Pignell Servant to the lord Richard White beaten in the side of the head with and ax as we conceive by the bigness of the hole in the skull, also we found that part of the body of the said Pignell was carried away with Varmet but the hind quarters from the loins we found dragged in a swamp by which said consequences of the said action, and by the examination of an English Servant of the said Whites named John Evans that escaped out of the house at that tome when the murther was committed we do all agree in our verdict that it was the Indians, also by the report of an Indian of Nanzemum named George, a great man of the said towne, that went with us to the plantation the same time when we viewed the dead bodyes -- he told us that the same day that the murther was committed he found the footing of divers Indians going from the said plantation". "Perhaps 300 settlers were killed in these raids. Demanding protection, the settlers petitioned the Jamestown Government for arms, forts, and soldiers. From Rappahannock County was sent a "Petition of 15 Grievances" signed by, among others, Henry Awbrey and Col. Thomas Gouldman. They begged that "the war was the heathen...may be prosecuted effectually and managed in such sort that some Counties may not be totally ruined whilst others live in...peace and quietness, whilst poore Rappahannock lies ableeding whose number of people murthered and estates destroyed can find no parallel in Virginia...for wile we are tending corn to feed our wives and children, the Indians...would butcher us in our fields, they being so frequent about us that we dare not stir from our plantation" .

"Governor Berkeley ordered the colonists to band together, ten men to a house, and ordered a 500-man army raised to defend the frontiers. To support this army, a tax of 500 pounds of tobacco per poll was levied. This was a very dear tax, as in that year (1676) there had been a severe drouth and crop failure. An army of 250 men was raised under the command of Major Thomas Truman of Maryland and Col. John Washington of Virginia, but proved ineffective against the hit-and-run tactics of the Indians. "Dissatisfaction with these measures led the colonists to raise a volunteer army of their own, and a wealthy, cocky newcomer from England, Nathaniel Bacon, was chosen as their leader. Bacon's request to the Governor for a commission to lead this army was refused, so he determined to set out on his own. With his little army he raided some "tame" Pamunkeys, then assaulted some friendly Occaneeches, killing 30 of them. Governor Berkeley declared him a rebel, whereupon Bacon seized Jamestown and forced Berkeley to grant him a commission. Bacon then issued a "Declaration of the People", which has since been hailed as democracy" proclaimed a hundred years before the American Revolution. Protesting the colonial government even more than the Indian situation, Bacon decried the unjust taxation, the favoritism shown by the authorities, the monopoly of trade, and the poor defense of the colonies. "Governor Berkeley fled to lands east of the Potomac River, but his fortunes soon changed and returned to Jamestown. Bacon then laid siege to the town, recapturing it, and burned it. Thus matters stood when Bacon died in October, 1676, and support for his "rebellion" faded away . The colonists had been severely divided over support for Bacon or for the royal governor, and this division was pronounced in the outlying colony of Rappahannock County. In reprisal, Governor Berkeley seized much of the property of the rebels, and awarded the loyalists with huge grants of land. Some of the seized property was later returned by the courts, but 23 rebels were hung. "At this time our ancestor, (3) John Meador, was less than ten years old, and records do not reveal the details of how his step-father, Henry Awbrey, fared during these times. But it is a matter of record that Col. Thomas Goodrich and his son Benjamin were supporters of Bacon, for which they were fined 50,000 pounds of tobacco each and ordered to recant before the court with a rope about their necks. This Col. Goodrich did, but with a token cord instead of a rope, to demonstrate his contempt for the Governor's orders. Since the county court (of which Henry Awbrey was a member) permitted this display, it probably concurred. "Some support for Goodrich came from Col. Thomas Gouldman (father of Francis Gouldman, who married (3) Mary Meador). Gouldman proposed that half the debt be paid by selling to the government 50 acres of land near Hobb's Hole for the establishment of a warehouse center and shipping port. As Burgess for Rappahannock County, Gouldman used his influence in the Jamestown Assembly and the port was established. Joining in the venture also were Henry Awbrey, Col. William Loyd, and Col. William Stone. The port was called "New Plymouth", after the Puritan colony in New England, a testimony to continuing Puritan influence in the area, and was so known until 1705, when it was renamed Tappahannock in honor of the Indian villages that had once stood there. It is still the county seat of Essex County. Thus, some of the families allied to the Meadors were influential in founding this city . "Meanwhile, the Rappahannock Indians had fled from their villages behind the settlers on the east bank of the river to sanctuary several miles upstream. In their absence, the lands were taken up by white settlers, and the Indians could not return. Decimated and broken, though having remained peaceful during the whole affair, their cause was championed by Henry Awbrey, the senior member of the county court. Enlisting the help of about a dozen settlers, they were relocated, probably on Henry Awbrey's large grant lands, where there is a place which is still called Indian Neck. There is also a Rappahannock Indian church at Beasley; and there are reports that traces of an Indian settlement have been found on the Meador plantation , but no records have been found to this effect. "Participating in the resettlement in January, 1684 were Henry Awbrey, who served as overseer and go-between as well as furnishing his boat; Robert Tomlin, Jr., who supplied a sloop and a smaller boat; and several men including (3) John Meador. John was reimbursed by the court for 9 days service and the use of his horse . "THE OTHER CHILDREN OF (3) JOHN MEADOR "The greatest disappointment of the present research in the Eastern Virginia counties has been the lack of additional information developed about the remaining children of John Meador. It had been hoped that connections would be found to the many Meadors of the late 1700's and 1800's whose parentage is as yet unknown. But beyond those lineages already established, of Dinah, Jonas, and Jason Meador, no additional lineages have been documented. Perhaps the loss of records in Caroline and King and Queen Counties has contributed in part to this lack of data. The later moves to Cumberland |County have been well documented, but research in surrounding counties of Amelia and Prince Edward perhaps will reveal the links now missing; but that is another project and not within the province of the present work." [alford1.FTW]

From the book "Our Colonial Meador Ancestors" by Victor Paul Meadors "As indicated in the preceding chapter on (2) Thomas Meador, no documentation has been found to show explicitly that Thomas Meador, orphan, and Thomas Meador the Younger are one and the same. This includes the lack of evidence to define that John Meador, the son of Thomas Meador, orphan, and John Meador, the only son of Thomas Meador the Younger and Sarah Meador, were the same. Nonetheless, as pointed out in that chapter, it appears that those facts which are known fit better with the conclusion that Thomas Meador, orphan, was also known as Thomas Meador the Younger. In the same sense, the known facts point quite conclusively that the John Meador who was the son of Thomas and Sarah Meador was the same John Meador, son of Thomas, orphan, who inherited the grants on Hoskins Creek. "On that basis, it would appear that this John Meador probably was born about 1658, because he apparently was of legal age August, 1679 . Thus he probably was about 4 or 5 years of age at the death of his father. Barring evidence to the contrary. it must be presumed that John spent his childhood with his mother Sarah and his step-father, Henry Awbrey, on Awbrey's plantation on the upper reaches of Hoskins Creek. AS noted in the preceding chapter his mother gave him a yoke of oxen and a gun. Marks for these oxen were registered , and marks for a black heifer were registered later for "John Meadors, son of Thomas Meadors of Hoskins Creek . The two registrations are essentially the same, except that the left and right sides of the cattle are interchanged. The strong similarity between the marks also would support the view that John Meador, son of Thomas, orphan, and John Meador, son of Thomas and Sarah, were the same. "For clarity it would be noted here that the records indicate that only two John Meadors were living in the area of the Northern Neck at this time. The one named above unmistakably was the son of Thomas Meador, orphan, who held the two grants on Hoskins Creek. The other, a much older man, was the son of Ambrose Meador and was born about 1633. Records of this latter John are found on Peumansend Creek in St. Mary's Parish, an area now part of Caroline County and quite distinct from the area on Hoskins Creek in South Farnham Parish where John, the son of Thomas, orphan, lived. "Of course, John could not occupy the grant lands of his father while a child, but apparently he did so upon attaining adult status. This seemingly coincided with his marriage to Elizabeth White, the daughter of Richard and Addra White. Recor

From the book "Our Colonial Meador Ancestors" by Victor Paul Meadors:

"One of the best documented children of John Meador is his second son, Thomas Meador. In large part this is due to the details left by Thomas in his will. The limited remaining facts on his surviving children have been the subject of many interpretations by erudite fellow genealogists. Careful study of these records has added little additional knowledge of this family.

"While the order of birth of the children of John Meador cannot be determined, Thomas was certainly born in the 1680's. Seemingly he was named after his grandfather, Thomas Meador. He is first mentioned in the deed of gift that his father made in 1694 to the children of his first marriage. In that division of property, Thomas was given a portion bounded by the Cold Spring, the Great Branch (which also bounded the property given to Richard and John Jr.) and the main run of Hoskins Creek. The land given to Thomas was probably 100 acres, as this was the amount noted on the rent (tax) roll in 1715. The property remained in the possession of Thomas and his descendants for nearly a hundred years.

"Thomas married Elizabeth Wood sometime before 1718, when Elizabeth and her brothers John and Thomas Wood disposed of some of the property they had inherited. She is not mentioned again in records until 1734, when she was witness to a deed. She apparently did not survive her husband.

"Thomas was named as a potential beneficiary of one-fourth of the estate of his brother, John Jr., in his will in 1720 , of which Thomas was also named Executor (a task that occupied over 20 years). But there is no indication that Thomas or the others named in that will ever became actual beneficiaries of John Jr.'s estate. The deed of gift by John had specified that the lands given should return to the father for disposal if the recipient should die; but it is seen that the property given to John Jr. is in the hands of Richard, son of Richard, the oldest brother, who had already passed away in 1716. Records are lacking to support the actual transfer of ownership, but perhaps the rules of primogeniture then in effect resulted in this succession of ownership. In any case, it would appear that Thomas did not receive the inheritance from John Jr. as specified in the will.

"When John died in 1721 , Thomas was the only son of the first marriage of John who still survived. Richard, John Jr., and Hope Meador had already deceased, and apparently his sister, Esther Bourne, had already died as well. But by John's second marriage four more sons had been added to the family, and John's will acknowledged this fact by providing that "my five sons shall keep their own guns".

"Jonas Meador, oldest of the sons by John's second wife, received a small piece of the land still retained by John, while the rest was divided equally among the four other surviving sons. This obviously included Thomas, who received also one shilling as a token bequest. It is not clear how such land Thomas received from this divided bequest, nor just where it was located. Of all the lands obtained by John Meador through inheritance, by gift, or by purchase or grants, there may be some 90 acres or so unaccounted for in the deed of gift of 1694. If so, this may have been the land divided by his will among the five sons then surviving.

"Numerous records over the next 35 years attest to Thomas Meador's activities in signing inventories, wills, and appraisals. There are too numerous to list. But in 1743 he was named by his niece, (5) Susannah Meador (daughter of John Jr.) to oversee her inheritance. Also, he was named Executor of the estate of Richard Armstrong on 1751 , a duty which he refused.

"In 1734 Thomas purchased 70 acres of the original 450-acre grant from his nephew, William Meador . Then in 1739 he purchased from his sister, (4) Rachel Jordan, and William Hutson (both of Caroline County) the 105 acres left to her by their father, (3) John Meador .

This tract had been purchased by John from Edwin Thacker in 1687. The acreage was then divided in half and Thomas sold one half to William Allen . Ten years later, the sale of this portion of John Clements by Zachariah Allen, son of William, was acknowledged by Thomas Meador .

* * * * *

"Thomas died in 1758, and his detailed will was probated September 19, 1758 (see copy). In it, he names four sons and five daughters: John, Thomas, Ambrose, Reuben, Sarah, Easter (Esther), Elizabeth, Rachel, and Frances. Three of these sons, John, Thomas, and Reuben, were willed portions of the plantation lands, and the daughters received a feather bed apiece. Only Ambrose was accorded no bequest, other than an equal share in the personal property. There was no explanation. From this will, we learn that the "burying place" was on the portion given to Reuben. The personal estate left by Thomas included 4 slaves, 5 cows, 2 horses, 40 barrels of corn, sheep, hogs, and a fiddle .

"WILL OF THOMAS MEADOR

Also, he was named Executor of the estate of Richard Armstrong on 1751 , a duty which he refused.

"In 1734 Thomas purchased 70 acres of the original 450-acre grant from his nephew, William Meador . Then in 1739 he purchased from his sister, (4) Rachel Jordan, and William Hutson (both of Caroline County) the 105 acres left to her by their father, (3) John Meador . This tract had been purchased by John from Edwin Thacker in 1687. The acreage was then divided in half and Thomas sold one half to William Allen . Ten years later, the sale of this portion of John Clements by Zachariah Allen, son of William, was acknowledged by Thomas Meador .

"Thomas died in 1758, and his detailed will was probated September 19,1758 (see copy). In it, he names four sons and five daughters: John, Thomas, Ambrose, Reuben, Sarah, Easter (Esther), Elizabeth, Rachel, and Frances. Three of these sons, John, Thomas, and Reuben, were willed portions of the plantation lands, and the daughters received a feather bed apiece. Only Ambrose was accorded no bequest, other than an equal share in the personal property. There was no explanation. From this will, we learn that the "burying place" was on the portion given to Reuben. The personal estate left by Thomas included 4 slaves, 5 cows, 2 horses, 40 barrels of corn, sheep, hogs, and a fiddle .

"WILL OF THOMAS MEADOR

"In the name of God, Amen. I, Thomas Meador of Essex County in the

Parrish of South Farnham, being in perfect sence and memory, Praise the Almighty for the same, I do make and Ordain this my last Will and Testament, Revoking and Disanuling all other Wills heretofore written, in Manner and form as followeth, to wit:

"First and Principally I commend my Soul unto the hands of Almighty God who gave it, hoping through... the Merrits and Death of my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ to have full and free Pardon of all my Sins and Wickednesses in General and to Inherit Everlasting Life through my Savior Christ, and my Body I commit to the Earth to be decently and Christianly buried, hoping at the Last Day of Judgment it shall be reunited to my soul to a happy Ressurrection, and as for my worldly estate which it hath pleased Almighty God to Bless me with, I give as followeth:

"Item. I give unto my son John Meador a peace of land in Essex County and Parrish aforesaid, being the land on which I live, bounded as followeth---Beginning at my Cool Spring and running to a Great White Oak standing on my Spring Hill, thence across my corn field to the head of a Branch called the Poplar Spring Branch, thence Down the Branch to the Great Branch to the Main Pocoson & down the main Pocoson to the mouth of Cool Spring branch & so up the said Branch to the beginning---to him & his heirs Lawfully begotten of his Body forever.

"Item. I give unto my son Thomas Meador Eighty Acres of land more of less beginning at a corner oak between Nicholas Faulconor and myself, thence to the Corner of the Ditch, thence down the Ditch so to the head of the Branch, thence Down the Branch to the Great Branch, so up the said Branch to Harbett Waggoner's line, thence along the said line to a corner White Oak, thence along Waggoner's line to the mouty (of) Clements Spring Branch, so up the said Branch to the Main Road, so along the said Road to the Blody Oak, thence North East to a corner Hiccory by Nicolas Faulconer's fence, so to the Beginning, to him & his Male heirs Lawfully begotten of his Body forever, & for want of such heirs to Rubin Meador and his Male Heirs Lawfully begotten of his Body forever.

"Item. I give to my son Rubin Meador all the remainder part of my land belong to the Burying Place lying between the lands I gave to my sons John Meador & Thomas Meador, to him and his Male heirs Lawfully begotten his Body forever, and for want of such heirs then to my son Thomas Meador and his Male heirs Lawfully begotten of his Body forever.

"Item. I give to my son Ruben Meador my old hunting gun which was made by Peter Byram & Three good cows & calves & Desire they may not be appraised, being left him instead of money Land to him & his heirs forever.

"Item. I give to my Daughter Elizabeth Allen, wife of Benjamin Allen, the same feather Bed I lent her at the Day of Marriage to her and her heirs forever.

"Item. I give to my daughter Rachel Armstrong, wife of Ambrose Armstrong, the same Feather Bed I lent her at the Day of Marriage to her and her heirs forever.

"Item I give to my daughter Sarah Meador one Feather Bed with all the furniture & c. to her and her heirs forever.

"Item. I give to my daughter Easter Meador one feather Bed with all the furniture & c. to her and her heirs forever.

"Item. I give to my daughter Frances Bell one feather Bed with all the furniture & c. to her and her heirs forever.

"Item. I give to Susannah Meador forty five shillings current money to be put to her use During her life, to be paid yearly by my Executors hereafter named.

"Item. I desire that all the Remainder part of my estate of what kind soever being Real & Personal and lying & being in what Place soever be Equally Divided amongst my Nine Children, viz.: John Meador, Thomas Meador, Ambrose Meador, Ruben Meador, Sarah Meador and Easter Meador, Elizabeth Allen. Rachel Armstrong, & Frances Bell, to them and their heirs forever.

"Item. I do constitute & Appoint my two sons Thomas Meador & Reuben Meador full, whole & sole Executors of this my Last Will and Testament, Revoking all other will or wills heretofore by me made, & Acknowledge this my Will & no other---

"In Witness wherof I have hereunto Sett my hand and fixt my Seal this 31st. day of July Anno Domi, 1758.

The words being Real and Personnally interlined before signing.

Children of Thomas Meadows (Meador) and Elizabeth Wood:

- 5 i. Thomas Meadows (Meador), born 1711, in Essex County, Virginia,^{1,2} died 1776.^{1,2}

5. Thomas Meadows⁵ (Meador)^{1,2} (Thomas Meadows⁴, John Meadows³, Thomas Meadows², Thomas "The Elder"¹), born 1711, in Essex County, Virginia,^{1,2} died 1776.^{1,2} He married Ann Bourne.^{1,2} She was the daughter of Thomas Bourne. Ann Bourne was born about 1710.¹

Thomas Jr. was born before 1726 as he was of legal age in 1745 when he signed as a witness to a sale of his cousin, Susannah Meador . He married Ann Bourne, who was the daughter of Thomas Bourne, brother of the William Bourne who married Esther Meador.

Thomas received 80 acres of the original 450-acre grant lands from the will of his father in 1758. This land was sold by his only son of record, (6) Thomas, to Vincent Meador in 1787 . At the time it was occupied by Ann Meador, his mother, but her eventual fate is unknown.

Thomas was Executor of his father's will in 1758, along with his brother Reuben, and they participated in several court actions over the next few years. He appraised the estate of John Allen Jr. in 1762 , that of John Reeves in 1768 , and formed a jury to determine the cause of death of a body found in 1764 . He signed as witness to the will of his brother-in-law, Ambrose Armstrong, husband of (5) Rachel Meador, in 1768 , and as a witness to the will of Elizabeth (Reeves) Allen, widow of John Allen Sr., in 1774 . Less than two years later he was dead, leaving no will. The administration of his estate was ordered by the court February 19,1776, and letters granted to Archibald Ritchie . No heirs were named, and presumably the son Thomas mentioned above was his only survivor.

Thomas served in the revolution with his cousins, Vincent and Leroy Meador, enlisting in the 7th Regiment of the Continental Line. This unit served with General Washington in New Jersey (see Leroy's record quoted previously), but as the record of Thomas is not at hand, it is presently unknown in which campaigns he took part.

Thomas was first mentioned in Essex records in the will of his uncle, Reubin Meador, in 1778, by whom he was given a gun and wearing apparel . He witnessed the will of Henry Allen in 1783 and was mentioned as a buyer at the sale of William Barton that same year . He formed a close relationship with his cousin, Vincent Meador, son of William Barton and Elizabeth Meador (?). They are found as mutual security in several actions of debt in the court records . And in 1787 he sold the 80 acres inherited from his father to Vincent Meador. Thomas and Leroy are found in Amelia County, Virginia in 1796, where they signed as witnesses for the marriage of Oney Meador, daughter of Benjamin Meador, to Joshua Noble.

In the census of Virginia of 1810, Thomas and Vincent are listed together in neighboring King and Queen County, but are not found in the state census of 1820. In 1810, Thomas is shown to have been born shortly before 1765, his wife shortly after, and they have a son and two daughters less than 10, a son 10 to 16, and two daughters between 16 and 26. The destruction of the records in King and Queen County prevents us from learning the fate of Thomas Meador. Vincent, however, is found in Essex County records in 1815, when an inventory of his property was ordered after his death . Further descendants are at present writing unknown.

Note:

Vincent and Leroy Meador and their cousin, Thomas Meador, enlisted in the same regiment at the same time. It may be presumed that their service was similar.

The records show that Vincent and Leroy enlisted in the company of Capt. John Webb of the 7th Virginia Regiment, commanded by Col. Alexander McClenachan, on Dec. 29,1776. This was only three days after the great victory of Gen. Washington at Trenton, but one cannot say that patriotic fervor aroused by this victory inspired their enlistments. They joined the army of Gen. Washington in New Jersey, and were present during the maneuvers in New Jersey and Pennsylvania the following spring and summer.

The men were intermittently absent for some illness which is not named in records. Nor do available facts name them as participants in any of the battles that year, or if their absence could have been due to wounds. The men were recorded as sick and absent during the period from early September to Oct. 13th, while the Battle of Brandywine was fought on Sept. 11th, and the Battle of Germantown was fought on Oct. 4th. In both of these engagements, the Americans were repulsed, and Gen. Howe, the British commander, occupied the capitol city of Philadelphia on Sept. 27th.

The men were also recorded as sick and absent during the remaining months of 1777. However, the company muster roll shows them present at Valley Forge, Pa. with Washington's army during that winter of terrible hardships, though both men were hospitalized during the month of January and early February. Both were discharged on Feb. 9, 1778. This probably saved their lives, as that winter 3000 men, nearly a fourth of the army, died from the exposure. Although their enlistment periods were for two years, the company muster roll states that their times had expired.

One of the three men lived to collect a pension under the soldier's pension act of 1832. Vincent's name is on a list of those for whom no bounty land had been claimed by 1834. He had died in 1815.

He was 19 when he joined his neighbors who fought in the Battle of Point Pleasant under William Nalle.

"ISREAL MEADOWS. Isreal, whose name was spelled in various ways, was from the Elkton neighborhood of Rockingham County. His name was spelled Meadows on his pension papers. The battle at Pt. Pleasant, Oct. 10, 1774, with the Indians, ending 'Dunmore's War' and according to some historians, starting the Revolution was fought by soldiers gathered from the New River Valley and the Valley of Virginia. One company under Capt. William Nalle came from Rockingham County. In this company were Isreal Meader, Meador, Meadows. (I find his name spelled all three ways) and Adam Hansbarger. This is the same Captain, afterwards Col. Nalle and the same Adam Hansbarger mentioned by Jacob Meadows in his application for a pension. The only other information that I have comes from the notations of Mrs. Pearce of West Memphis, Ark., previously mentioned. 'Isreal Meadows in the Revolution from Virginia. He moved to Estill County, Kentucky, and applied for a pension in 1818. He died in 1827, in Estill County, Kentucky. His wife Barbara applied in 1839 to have this renewed. They were married in Greenbrier County, Va., in 1775. Her maiden name was Griffin.' From this notation it appears that Isreal had moved from Rockingham County to the Greenbrier country of the New River Valley, before moving to Kentucky."

9. Arris Preston⁷ Meadows^{1,2,4} (Josiah Francis⁶, Thomas Meadows⁵, Thomas Meadows⁴, John Meadows³, Thomas Meadows², Thomas "The Elder"¹), born 1760, in Greenbrier, West Virginia, USA,⁴ died 1826, in Kanawha County, West Virginia.⁴ Arris Preston Meadows also went by the name Aries. He married Martha 'Mickey' Byrnside^{1,2,4} 14 Feb 1793, in Greenbrier, Virginia, USA.⁴ She was the daughter of James Burnside Sr. and Isabella Patterson. Martha 'Mickey' Byrnside was born 1772, in Union, Monroe, Virginia, USA,⁴ died Jul 1845, in Kanawha County, (West) Virginia.⁴

The LDS Ancestral file has several entries one says born about 1751 in Greenbrier and the other entry says about 1760-63. Gary Cale says he was born in about 1760, died in about 1820 in Kanawha Co., VA, and was married on July 11, 1791. Charley Green has death date 1819. Charley Green of TX says married July 10, 1791. The 12th Volume of Kith and Kin of Boone Co., covers this family. They moved to Peytona in 1812. He was in the Battle of Point Pleasant. Esther M. Meadows says Arris was born around 1751 in Greenbrier Co(?), VA and died between 1820-26 in Kanawha (present day Boone) Co. She was not sure of his parents.

Esther says in 1812, 344 acres of land between Racine and Joe's Creek was sold to Arris Meadows by Joseph Haynes. (the original grant for this land was issued to John Toney in Montgomery Co, VA which was later Kanawha and then Boone Co). A portion of land at Peytona had been patented by James Byrnside, father of Martha, and Arris may have purchased the land and moved there to be near Martha's family. This area remained in Kanawha Co., until Boone Co. was formed in 1847.

Esther says Arris was listed in the VA state census of 1775. He was living in the part of Greenbrier Co. that later became Monroe Co., WV. On early records the name is spelled several ways, Aris, Aries, Ayers, Eril, and Earis, to name a few. Some Meadows researchers think the name may be short for Harris. However, the spelling of a name meant very little in early colonial days since most people were illiterate and the record keepers were hardly literate themselves.

Sometime after the death of Arris, around 1826, his heirs divided the land and a deed made by Elizabeth Ferrell and her husband, William, names the children of Arris and Martha. In this deed, Elizabeth relinquished all claim to her father's estate to the other thirteen children. Later one of the heirs bought out the interest of the others.

NOTE: Extensive information in Internet data on Leanza shows her maiden name listed as 'Leanza Alfred Coon.' This error probably arises from her married name being incorporated into earlier information.

Robert Alford and Leanza Coon were first cousins, once removed.

Civil War information on Robert Alford:

Robert Alford enlisted in Company B, (1st Battalion Virginia Mountain Rifles) on 6 April 1862 in Logan County (now WV). He transferred to Company D, Capt. Carter's Company, on 19 Nov 1862. Witcher's Battalion is officially known as 34th Battalion Virginia Cavalry.

[Cole, Scott C. 34TH VIRGINIA CAVALRY. Lynchburg, VA: H.E. Howard, Inc., 1993. From The Virginia Regimental Histories Series.]

After the Civil War started Robert took his best horse and joined the C.S.A. A crippling injury in Tennessee caused one leg to be shorter than the other (see Hardesty's History information listed under Robert's son, Lafayette Alford).

The surname for Robert and family was spelled 'ALFRED" in the 1860 Federal census (Cabell County, Virginia).

After the death of his first wife, Leazy Coon, Robert married his nephew William Alford's widow, Sarah Dolin Alford. Family information indicates that Robert abandoned his second wife and son after his return from action in the Civil War.

Elvira Ellen Rhinehart was born 1880, in Wyoming County, West Virginia,²⁶⁷ died 1966, in Mullens, Wyoming County, West Virginia.

George Sanford Meadows, #436, s/o Jacob and Talitha (Burnside) Meadows, was born Jan 1867 in Boone County, WV and died July 1911 in Santa Rosa, FL. He married Elvira Ellen Rinehart in McDowell Co., WV April 22 1897. Elvira, the daughter of Hugh G. and Mary (Little) Rinehart of Barkers Ridge, was born 1880 in Wyoming County, WV and died in 1966 at Mullens, WV. She was buried at Roselawn Cemetery, Princeton, Mercer County, WV.

George and Elvira lived in McDowell Co. until 1900 when they moved to Meadow Fork in Fayette County. George worked in the coal mines in McDowell and Fayette Counties as a prop-setter. He sold his property in Fayette Co. in 1907 and moved to Decatur, Tennessee where he worked as a farm hand for his first cousins Jubal and Juniper Meadows. George and his family lived in Decatur until 1911 when he heard of land in Walton Co., Florida that could be bought at a cheap price. Once more he packed their belongings and they boarded a train for Florida.

After arriving in Florida, George purchased several acres of property from a land company. He had to clear off trees to build a house and plant crops. He earned income by working as a deck hand aboard a fishing boat on the Gulf of Mexico.

Elvira was expectant with their eighth child when George became ill with typhoid fever. Although he was very sick and weak, he did not stop working. He had to stop frequently and rest while planting his fields. One day he collapsed in the field and had to be carried and put to bed. He only lived a few days after that and was buried in nearby Santa Rosa. He was the first to be buried in the cemetery there. Elvira sold the land and moved her family back to WV. Her baby was born in December, five months after the death of her husband. ...

She was the daughter of Peter Smith and Asenith Alford. Sarah Jane 'Sally' Smith was born 13 Nov 1839, in Cabell County, (West) Virginia,¹ died after 1900.

George Washington Alford - is a son of Robert and Leanzey (Coon) Alford, and a grandson of George Alford, who are further spoken of in the sketch following this one. He was born in Cabell County, November 24, 1837, and was married in that county, July 3, 1861. His wife is Sarah Jane, daughter of Peter and Ascenith (Alford) Smith, and she was born in Cabell County, November 13, 1839. her parents were living in Lincoln County at its formation. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Alford have six children, and death has taken three: Josephine Alice, born August 22, 1862; Emmazetta Olive, January 8, 1865; Columbus Jackson, November 12, 1866; Rhoda Ann, April 14, 1868; Elfrida, April 19, 1870, died July 3d following; Robert Lee, June 12, 1873, died October 19, 1878; Minnie Golden, October 21, 1876; Maxwell Flournoy, February 1, 1878, died September 11, 1879; Sandy Casey, October 24, 1880. George W. Alford joined Capt. William Chandler's sharpshooter, at the beginning of the war between the states, but was with them in only one battle, at Mouth of Scary, on the Kanawha River. He was soon taken sick with measles, and was moved to a house for nursing. When he recovered his company was gone and he came home. His brother Joseph was in the Southern Army, and received seventeen wounds in the service, two balls passing through his body, but he still lives. C. C. Smith, Mrs. Alford's brother, was made prisoner, sent to Camp Chase, and there died. Mr. Alford owns between 300 and 400 acres of land, 100 under cultivation. Coal, iron, lime, and building stone are found. He has served his district as school trustee. Address, Garrets Bend, Lincoln County, West Virginia.

[NOTE: The 1850 census, enumerated in August 1850, lists the youngest child, a son, of Robert and Leanza Coon Alford, as 'John W. Alford - age 3/12 years. This date coincides with the May 1850 date of birth of Lafayette Alford. Subsequent census data along with the Hardesty Encyclopedia information, not to mention family information, confirms the correct name as 'Lafayette Alford.' One can only guess that it was an enumerator error. NLA]

According to my father, 'Lafe' spoke with a 'brogue.'

Lafayette Alford - was born May 7, 1850, in what was then Cabell County, Virginia. He was a son of Robert and Leanzey (Coon) Alford, who were living in what is now Lincoln County when it was organized, and a grandson of George Alford, who was prominent among the earliest settlers here, living a few miles below the present site of Griffithsville, and raising a large family there. The subject of this sketch owns 85 acres on Trace Fork of Mud River, and has 50 acres under cultivation. He has eight acres of choice fruit, and all the land abounds in that mineral wealth which in the near future will be developed in this county. His father, who is now sixty-eight years of age, was shot through the thigh while in Tennessee, serving in the Confederate Army, Witcher's Battalion. He was badly crippled by his injury, one leg remaining seven inches shorter than the other.

In Lincoln County, March 4, 1873, Lafayette Alford wedded Sarah Catharine V. Adams. She was born in Franklin County, Virginia, March 2, 1850, a daughter of John Quincy and Sarah (Goode) Adams, of Franklin County. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Alford are three living, two deceased: Rose Delphine, born January 28, 1873, died November 7, 1878, James Wilbert, born July 24, 1875, died October 26, 1878, William Thomas, born November 30, 1876, John Robert, born July 1, 1880; Stafford G., September 1, 1883. Lafayette Alford's post office address is Griffithsville, Lincoln County, West Virginia.

Clarence Watson Meadows was governor of West Virginia from 1945 to 1949. He was born in Beckley, Raleigh County, West Virginia. He attended Beckley High School, Georgia Military Academy, Washington and Lee University, and the University of Alabama. He established a law practice at Beckley in 1928. Meadows served in the House of Delegates from 1931 to 1932 and as the Raleigh County prosecuting attorney from 1933 to 1936. He was the state's Attorney General under governors Homer Adams Holt and Matthew Mansfield Neely from 1937 to 1942, when he was appointed judge of the Tenth Judicial Circuit.

More than any of his predecessors, Meadows used radio to convey his message to the people. He helped mediate a number of labor disputes. Meadows reorganized the state's Board of Education, Conservation Commission, Industrial Publicity Commission and West Virginia University's Board of Governors. Following World War II, he used a state treasury surplus from the war effort to fund education, construction and relief programs.

After leaving office, Meadows opened a law practice in Charleston, engaged in oil and gas ventures, and held interests in three radio stations. In later years, he moved to Fort Lauderdale, Florida and managed the unsuccessful U. S. Senate campaign of Claude Pepper in 1958.

Man Struck by Train Dies in Hospital Here

Injuries received when struck by a train near Pond fork caused the death Wednesday in a Charleston hospital of Emil Kuhn, 21-year-old son of Aubrey Kuhn, of Van, in Boone county. Kuhn suffered the loss of both legs and an arm when struck by a Chesapeake and Ohio train early Wednesday. Railroad officials said they were informed that Kuhn was sitting on the tracks. He died soon after admittance to the hospital. The body was taken to the Hunter and Hunter mortuary at Madison.

vii. Gladys Ellen Adams,¹ born 17 Aug 1917, in Sumerco, Lincoln County, West Virginia, died 30 Jun 1995, in Charleston, Kanawha County, West Virginia. She married Ernest Milton Ferrell 22 Oct 1935. He was the son of Martin E. Ferrell and Maud Brackman. Ernest Milton Ferrell was born 24 Apr 1915, in Loudendale, Kanawha County, West Virginia, died 18 Jan 2007, in Richmond, Henrico County, Virginia.

Gladys Ellen Adams was the third of ten children born to Elza Adams and Emily Agnes Tackett Adams. She was born in Lincoln county, WV, and lived there until she was a young teen, when the family moved to Kanawha county. Gladys married on 22 Oct 1935 to Ernest Milton Ferrell, and they settled on Cane Fork of Loudendale, where Ernest's father gave them a parcel of land, where they built their house, and raised a family of three boys, and three girls. Gladys was a generous and loving daughter, wife, Mother, sister, aunt, and friend. She loved to piece quilts, and the quilts she made and gave away, can be found all across the country. She loved her family unconditionally, and was always there to lend support.

Ernest M. Ferrell, Sr., 91 of Loudendale, died peacefully, Thursday, Jan 18, 2007 in Richmond, Va., at Parham Healthcare, surrounded by family.

He was born April 24, 1915 at Cane Fork and was the last surviving child of Martin E. and Maude Brackman Ferrell. In addition to his parents, he was predeceased by his sisters; Nannie Goodwin, Florence Patrick, and infant sisters, Flora Evelyn and Nellie Maude; and brothers; George W., Ira E., David M., Carl E., Luther M. and Clarence O., and an infant brother.

He married Gladys Ellen Adams on October 22, 1935 and they raised a family of six children at Cane Fork.

He received his Mine Foreman's Certificate in 1966, and retired as a fire boss, having worked for Carbon Fuel on Cabin Creek for 35 years.

In 1977 he and his wife moved to Florida, spending their retirement years clearing the land in Florida for their home, gardening, fishing, and raising occasional livestock. They returned to Loudendale in 1990, where his wife of 60 years preceded him in death on June 30, 1995. Also predeceasing him was his son, Ernest Jr. on Jan 30 1969, and his son Kenneth E. on Feb 10, 1999, and an infant daughter in 1944, an infant grandson, Kenneth Jr. in 1958, and grandson Robert G. Sutherland, Sr. in 2005.

Surviving him are his daughters, Kathie M Parker, and her husband Ruben of Sandston, VA., Myrna J. Pennington and her husband Paul of Lakeland, FL. and Loudendale, Donna Shaffer and her husband Paul of Glen Allen, VA and son, Paul A. Ferrell and wife Fay of Zephyrhills, FL. 20 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren, and 22 great-great-grandchildren.

Friends may call from 7-9 pm. at Good Shepherd Mortuary on Monday, Jan 22, and 1 hour prior to the service, which will be 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan 23. Burial will follow in Orchard Hill Memory Gardens at Yawkey.

Over Property Taxes SUIT NAMES 42 DEFENDANTS

Newton and Sylvia Pearl Meadows filed suit Monday in the Circuit clerk's office against 42 persons. The suit involves property left to heirs of a Meadows family. According to the suit, Sylvia Meadows is a daughter of James A. and Cora Meadows, who died about 15 years ago, leaving about 115 acres of land in Slab Fork District. Plaintiffs allege they have been made to pay $290 for taxes on the property. They are asking the court to appoint special commissioners to sell the land. First of all, the suit demands, money must be used to reimburse the plaintiffs for money used to pay the property taxes. Secondly, any remaining money is to be disbursed among the parties involved, the suit requests. Named defendants are: Mary Meadows Blevins of Downingtown, Pa.; Andrew Meadows of Rhodell; Lawrence Meadows of Helen; James Meadows, Eva Meadows, Sylvia Meadows, David Meadows, Franklin Meadows, Mrs. Basil Meadows. Earl Meadows, Jessie Meadows Waddell, Sonnie Meadows, Francis Meadows, Elaine Meadows, Robert Meadows, David Meadows, Elbert Asbury, Lenore Meadows, Grace Day, Raymond Day, Albert, Della Meadows, Billie Meadows, and Betty Meadows Stehar, addresses unknown; Lena Richardson of Maple Meadow; James Hatcher of Radford, Va.; Wilson Hatcher of Portsmouth, Va.; George Hatcher of Crab Orchard; Bertha Hatcher Meadows of Sophia; Violet Hatcher Gordon of Portsmouth; Howard Hatcher of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Kenna Hatcher of Mabscott; Bertie Kirk of Mabscott; Blanche Meadows Via of Beckley; Larry Meadows of Mabscott, John Meadows of Sophia; Naoma Meadows Boyd of Vansant, Va., Martha Meadows Lilly, Joyce Lilly Dauby, and Janice Lilly, all of Rhodell; and Clay McAdoo of Beckley. Counsel for the plaintiffs is David D. Ashworth.

94. Aged Mountaineer Dies in Cabin FireALDERSON. Oct. 24.- Deputy Sheriff S. C Skaggs disclosed in a routine report to Prosecutor Forrest Roles today the death of a 99-year-old mountaineer in a fire at his isolated cabin on Wolf Creek mountain. The charred body of Nathan Meadows, who had told friends that he voted for Abraham Lincoln, was found in the ruins of his four-room log home by Arthur Campbell, his nearest neighbor. Meadows' wife, who had been ill, was convalescing at the Campbell home a mile away, Skaggs said. "Yesterday Campbell made a trip to the Meadows' place and found the timbers still smoking." the deputy sheriff reported. "Inside was Meadows' body." Skaggs added that the old man's dog escaped, but that his hair was scorched. Meadows had lived in the Wolf Creek district all his life. Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons who live in Hinton.[Charleston Gazette Monday, October 25, 1937 pg. 5]

413. Brother Held In Fatal Fight A "gun-for-gun" shooting match at Carbon on Cabin Creek yesterday afternoon erupted into a fight between brothers that left one dead and the other charged with murder. Cpl. C. C. Stuart of the Chelyan state police detachment said. The dead man is Bertsy Meadows, 39, a miner, and his brother, Harvey B. Meadows, 42, is accused of killing him with his fists, Stuart said. Both men are residents of Carbon. Stuart said that Harvey told him that he and Bertsy were engaged in a target match with shotguns -- "seeing who could place the most pellets in a target"- when Bertsy challenged him to shoot "gun-for gun, meaning winner wins the other's gun." HARVEY WON, Stuart said the accused brother told him, "and then Bertsy started getting nasty and the fight followed. Harvey said he pushed him a couple times. After the second "push" Bertsy didn't get up and, according to Stuart, Harvey and a neighbor, Oscar Robinson carried him into a nearby garage and Dr. M. R. Houck, a physician of the Carbon Fuel Co., was summoned. He pronounced the man dead. Stuart and Troopers Mike Murphy and C. T. Brammer began an Immediate investigation and, at 10:30 p. m. last night, Stuart said he would place Harvey Meadows in the Kanawha county Jail and formally charge him with murder in a warrant Monday in the court of Justice of the Peace L. E. Enicks of Chelyan and that an arraignment would be held at that time. Dr. Goff P. Lilly said here last night that he had been informed of the death of Bertsy Meadows but that he had withheld a formal decision pending the result of an autopsy which will be performed today by a pathologist to determine the exact cause of death. The body was brought to Charleston Memorial hospital at the direction of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Charles M. Walker to await the autopsy. Surviving are the wife, Ethel Mae; a son, George Allen and four daughters, Susie, Nancy, Pat and Katherine, all at home; the father B. L. Meadows of Charleston; three brothers, Jack and Clayton of Charleston and Harvey, of Decota, and four sisters, Mrs. E. W.

* * *Man Is Absolved In Death of KinThe April term of the Kanawha County grand jury absolved Harvey B. Meadows, 42, of Decota, in connection with Jan. 31 death of his brother, Bert C. Meadows, 39, of Carbon. The accused was freed after a coroner's report showed the victim's death came about as a result of a mine accident suffered on Jan. 30. Direct cause of death was listed as a cerebral hemorrhage. Meadows had been arrested following the death of his brother, when, according to state police, the two men became involved in a argument and the victim fell to the ground. Meadows received a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace L. E. Enicks of Chelyan and was bound over to the grand jury, which failed to return a true bill.[Charleston Gazette Thursday, 30 April 1953 Pg. 5]

521. Chemical Worker Drowns at Buffalo BUFFALO, Aug. 16 - (Special) A 44-year-old Buffalo chemical worker drowned in Kanawha River near his home. The drowning victim was identified as Basil B. Meadows, who lived next to the Old Lock wall. According to Gatens mortuary attendants, Meadows went down to work in his garden before noon. His wife, Sally, had sent one of her sons to get him for lunch shortly after noon. The boy returned and told his mother that Meadows wasn't there. Another son, Leroy, home on leave from the Army, went to investigate and found cut weeds at the edge of the wall. The boy dived into the river and found the body of his father about 15 feet from the wall. His attempts to revive him were futile, mortuary attendants said. Meadows was employed as an operator-helper at the Manganese plant at New River for 15 years. Surviving besides his wife and 1 son Leroy are one daughter. Karen, at home; six other sons. Donald, Ronald, Dale; grandsons. Bruce, and Freddy, all at home; four sisters, Mrs. Gladola Mullens of Bidwell, Ohio, Mrs. Helen Cunningham of Parkersburg. 602. Motorist Charged Lorain Woman Dies In Crash On Rt. 57A Lorain woman is dead and a Youngstown man faces a traffic manslaughter charge because he "got lost" and was driving the wrong way on Rt. 57 yesterday afternoon. MRS. JUANITA MARIE MEADOWS, 37, of 4103 Columbo Lane, Lorain, was pronounced dead at Elyria Memorial Hospital. Her injuries included fractures of the jaw and left leg and internal injuries. Mrs. Meadows' son, Harold J. Workman, 15, was treated for bruised knees and released.

Espie Roberson, 66, of 529 North Ave., Youngstown, was the driver of the "wrong way" car. Mrs Meadows was driving north according to the State Highway Patrol, and started to pass a truck when her small foreign car smashed into Roberson's heavier auto as he drove south in the northbound lane of the divided highway just north of the Ohio Turnpike. The impact turned Mrs. Meadows' car completely around. Roberson told The Chronicle-Telegram today that he got "lost" on the turnpike and came too far from Youngstown. When he turned off the pike onto Rt 57 north, he stopped and asked a patrolman directions, he said, adding the officer told him to turn around and go back. Not realizing Rt. 57 was a divided four-lane highway, Roberson said he turned and proceeded south. He said he was bound for Randall Park off Rt. 8 north of the turnpike, from his home in and overshot the cor-Picture on Pg. 4lect pike exit. Roberson said he pulled his auto partially off the highway onto the berm in an effort to avoid the crash. Roberson employed Peter Michael, Youngstown attorney, as his legal counsel this morning before being transferred to county jail. He pleaded innocent to the manslaughter charge at arraignment in Elyria Municipal Court. A preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 1 at 11 a. m. His bond was set at $2,000. Mrs. Meadows was born in Maxine, W. Va , May 29, 1922, and had lived in Lorain County eight years. She leaves her husband, Leon H ; a daughter, Ruth A. Mills, Elyria; two sons, Larry and Harold Workman at home; her parents, Mr and Mrs. James H. Woodrum, Seth, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs Robert E. Gulley, Washington, D. C.; and two brothers, Wallace Woodrum, Seth, W. Va. and Arthur Woodrum, with the U. S. Air Force. Friends may call at the Sudro-Curtis Funeral Home. Services will be Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Church of God, West St. and Lake Ave., with the Rev. O D Gammon officiating. Burial will be in Brookdale Cemetery.[Elyria Chronicle Telegram Tuesday, 25 August 1959 pg. 1] and Nathan Kuhn of Madison; one sister, Darlene McKenzie of Morehead, KY; several nieces and nephews. Gene was employed for over 40 years in the coal industry working for Y & O Coal Company, ARMCO Steel Corporation and was an Assistant Superintendent for AT Massey. He also served as a federal mine inspector for three years. Gene was a proud graduate of Van High School where he played baseball and football, being a part of Van's first football victory over Scott High School in 1945. He also played Coal Company League Baseball for Y & O Coal Company. Gene was also active coaching in Van Little League, Pony League and Senior League baseball. He had a great love of the West Virginia Mountaineers, St. Louis Cardinals, and St. Louis Rams were always active interests of Gene. He could always be found listening or watching his beloved Mountaineers whether it was football or basketball. Stan Musial was his favorite Cardinal player of all time and the Rams were both a source of joy and irritation. Politics was a second career for Gene. He twice served on the Boone County Board of Education and was a leader in gaining funding for many of the current schools in Boone County and the Boone Career and Technical Center. Gene was also a leader in providing money for increased teacher salaries. In 1988, he was elected to the Boone County Commission on a platform of providing clean drinking water to the citizens of Boone County. When he took office less than 50% of Boone County citizens had access to clean drinking water. When he left office in 2001 the percentage had grown to almost 90%. His hard work at gaining funding from the West Virginia Legislature led to the building of Community Centers in over 10 communities in Boone County and provided a place for senior citizens to meet and be served hot meals. His efforts also provided lighting to the Van High School baseball field at Wharton, the expansion of the press box at Scott High School's football field, partial funding and an air conditioning unit for the football field house at Sherman High School and a first class indoor baseball facility and upgrades to the baseball field also at Sherman High School. Gene was also a member of the Boone County Ambulance Authority and through his efforts the BCAA became self-sufficient. Gene had a wide variety of interests and many great accomplishments but most of all he loved his children and grandchildren and took tremendous pride in their accomplishments. They, in return, absolutely adored and respected Gene and will be sustained by the lessons he taught them throughout their lives. Friends may call from 6:00 p.m. to

784. Geneva Jane Vance Geneva Jane Vance, 84, of Bob White went to her heavenly home on Sunday, February 21, 2010, at 7:45 a.m. after a long illness. She was born October 12, 1925, and was a daughter of the late Forest and Dena Kuhn of Bob White. She was also preceded in death by her brothers, Clifford, Carson and Leland "Hooter"; and an infant son who was stillborn is now reunited with her. She married Dennis Denver Vance on March 28, 1942. Married 67 years, the love of that home was blessed by the births of eight children. She was known for her quiet, kind and loving demeanor. A godly mother and wife, she cherished her family and husband "Rusty." She loved her church and many friends there, and looked forward to her reunion with her parents in that fair land. In her latter days, she would often mention "Mommy and Poppy" in her conversations, thinking they were often nearby. Little did she know, this small glimpse of glory was soon to become a reality. A member of Cazy Freewill Baptist Church for many years, she loved her heavenly kin. She was very fond of gospel music and watched from her bed each Saturday night and Sunday morning. She will be greatly missed by family and friends. Our loss is heaven's gain. She is survived by her husband, Rusty of Bob White; sons, Charles and wife, Diane, of Amherstdale, Roger and wife, Katherine "Kitty", of Bob White, Harold and wife, Vicky, of Hendersonville, N.C., Tony of Weaverville, N.C., and Michael of Burnsville, N.C.; and daughters, Patricia and husband, Eddie, of Bob White and Sherry and husband, Jay, of Morganton, N.C. She is also survived by eight grandchildren, Crystal (David) Zabatany, Terra (Donny) Dingess, Kelli Angelo, Blake (Carrie) Vance, Clayton (Leigh Ann) Vance, Rachel (Monte) Bringle, Bryan and Ashley; four great-grandchildren, Jordyn and Jillian Zabatany, Chloe Vance and Abigail Bringle; and beloved granddog, "Katy Bug." Services will be 2 p.m. Wednesday, February 24, at Cazy Freewill Baptist Church with Pastors Tom Price, Don Austin and Gary Hunt officiating. Burial will follow in Green Cemetery, Bim. Friends may call from 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Handley Funeral Home, Danville. You may express your condolences to the family at www.handleyfh.com.

821. Dorothy A. Meadows Dorothy A. Meadows, of Dunedin, Fla., passed away Thursday, January 10, 2013. She was predeceased by her parents, John R. Peal and Mamye M. Spurlock; her husband, Clarence E. Meadows Sr.; and her brothers, Willard Peale and Johnny Peal. She is survived by her brothers, Robert Peal (Jewell Mae) of Uneeda and Dillfrede Peal (Irene) of Hope Mills, N.C.; son, Clarence E. Meadows Jr., and daughter-in-law, Irene M. Meadows, of Palm Harbor, Fla.; son, Larry A. Meadows of Strasburg, Va.; daughter, Diane L. Meadows "Peachy" of Dunedin, Fla.; granddaughter, Kristin M. Bender (William), and great-granddaughter, Collins Marie; granddaughter, Susan A. Meadows; granddaughter, Jennifer L. Price, and great-grandchildren, Brandon Tyler, Mia Nichole and Jackson James; and lifelong friends, Donald and Jean Kinder, Vernon and Freda Price and Red and Roby Worley. Dorothy was born July 4, 1930, in Ashford. By all accounts, a July 4th birthday was very fitting for Dorothy because she was a "firecracker." She had to be because she grew up with four older brothers. She attended Sherman High School and then married "Emmitt." Together they raised three children in Kanawha County. In addition to the loving care and devotion to her family, she also provided the same loving care and devotion to thousands of newborns during her almost 30-year career at the Charleston Area Medical Center NICU. She was a longtime member of Hernshaw Methodist Church and found true happiness amongst her friends in the congregation. Dorothy was a strong-willed, kind, generous and loving woman. Nothing made her more proud than her family, especially "Peachy." Although we lost our angel, heaven has gained one. Like our mother always said, "Trust in the Lord." Please direct any expressions of sympathy with a donation in Dorothy A. Meadows' name to Hernshaw Methodist Church, c/o Joyce Justice (Treasurer), 2124 Lens Creek Road, Hernshaw, WV 25107. Services to be announced at a later time.

904. Widow Not Charged In Man's Slaying WINFIELD - Putnam County Pros. Atty. Clarence Watt said Tuesday night that an investigation is being conducted in the fatal shooting of a 37-year-old St. Albans man. No charges have been filed against Mrs. Rae Blizzard, 60, who told police she killed Harvey Meadows as he was trying to break down the door of her trailer home. Sheriff Opha Stone said Mrs. Blizzard told him Meadows threatened her life about 1:15 a.m. Tuesday and said he would cut her throat. "I instructed the state police to conduct an investigation in this instance," Watt said. "I started today and should be through in a couple of days." * * * HE ADDED: "It is the policy of my office when there is a killing to have an investigation. We just want to look into the incident and see if it is as the woman says, then OK. But I don't think there should be any snap judgement. Trooper D. L. Stephenson the Winfield detachment said he started the investigation at noon Tuesday and would continue it today. County Coroner Joe Gatens said five shots from a .38 caliber pistol apparently were fired, three through a window of the trailer and two through the door. He said both shots through the door struck Meadows, one in the right arm and the other in the chest. He said the slug in the chest apparently killed Meadows outright. Gatens said, "From what I knew at that time, I said there was a possibility it was justifiable homicide." Mrs. Blizzard is the widow of William Blizzard, who served for years as president of District 17 of the United Mine Workers of America. Her trailer is at the junction of W. Va. 17 and Scary Creek Road. Stone said Mrs. Blizzard told him she and Meadows had been to a tavern and after she returned home, he went to it and threatened to kill her. Stone said Mrs. Blizzard said she fired a warning shot, then fired through the door when Meadows tried to force it.*
* * The Sheriff said he found an open knife by Meadows' body

951. Carl Lee Meadows Sr. Carl Lee Meadows Sr. left us on September 4, 2011, after suffering a fatal heart attack. He was born in Marmet, West Virginia, on September 15, 1939, the youngest son of Lawrence Otto and Clara Frances Bright Meadows. He brought his family south to Texas in 1961 and transplanted them to Sunshine, Louisiana, in 1971, when "Mr. Scurlock asked him to take a temporary post, not to be longer than one year." The temporary post became home and he retired from Ashland Oil Company's St. Gabriel terminal in 1992. Though retirement was a difficult transition for him at first, he quickly became a popular go-to person and was never void of projects and special requests. A resource for so many, his knowledge and experience will long survive through those he taught, not in a classroom, but through real-life experience. To those who loved him most, he was always just what was needed, when it was needed - a magician, a handyman, a repairman, a toymaker, a storyteller extraordinaire, and the list goes on, but most of all, our rock in hard times. He was preceded in death by his parents; his brothers, Lewis "Bob" Meadows and Edgar "Ed" Meadows; and a brother-in-law who had a special place in his heart, Charles Wise. Grieving his loss will be his wife, Joan Sergent Meadows; his son, Carl Meadows Jr. and wife, Gwen; daughter, Debbie LaPlace and husband, Tim; daughter, Angela Whittaker and husband, Mika; his grandchildren, Stacy LaPlace Dedon and husband, Chad, Christopher Meadows and wife, Shantel, and

The truck, which was loaded with gravel, weighed 41,500 pounds, well above the maximum weight of 26,000 pounds for that type of truck, said Jeff Davis with the DOH's Weight Enforcement Division. The accident occurred Wednesday afternoon as the truck was attempting to climb a hill in South Charleston. It was not clear Thursday what caused the truck to coast backward. Thomas Chandler, 62, of Charleston was struck and killed by the truck. Witnesses told police that Chandler abandoned his motorcycle when he saw the truck heading toward him and attempted to crawl away on his hands and knees. After hitting Chandler, the runaway truck continued about 30 feet farther down the hill before coming to a stop. No charges have been filed against the truck's driver, Michael Chapin of Charleston. Chapin, 45, is co-owner of the truck, police said. The accident remains under investigation by State Police and the Public Service Commission. Davis said the DOH's findings have been turned over to investigators.[Charleston Gazette - Friday, August 08, 2003]* * * * *

Published: June 12, 1985 Charleston rescue teams are expected to resume a search of the Kanawha River this morning for the body of a Lincoln County man who jumped from the South Side Bridge Monday night. Kent Carper, director of public safety, said the search was called off at 10 p.m. because of darkness. The search was scheduled to resume at 8 a.m. today. Cpl. Dallas Staples of the Charleston Police Department said the man has been tentatively identified as Jasper Alford, 44, of Sod. Staples said identification was made through clothing and personal belongings the man left on the bridge before he jumped. Six divers from the Charleston Rescue Diving Team made up of police, fire and rescue personnel searched the river for about three hours. Carper said visibility in the water was limited to 6 inches. Witnesses said the man jumped at about 6:10 p.m. from the west railing near the north end of the bridge. The divers entered the water at 7 p.m. to search for the body. Ron nephews; as well as a gaggle of cousins. Mommy will be greatly missed by her bestie of over 50 years, Kay Deel Reiser (David) of Florida, formerly of West Virginia. She had a beautiful life and lived it fully. She was a scout leader, team mom, kind soul and loved the outdoors. Her passions were music, flowers, camping, fishing and being surrounded by her host of friends and family. Our family would like to whole-heartedly thank Doctors Stephen Lewis (and Linda, of course), Lo'ay M. Al-Asadi, Abdul Zanabli, and Elizabeth Young. Without your kind care we would not have had our mommy as long as we did, the staff at Hubbard House West was a true blessing to each of us the last week and to her friend, Joy Midkiff. Barlow-Bonsall of Charleston is in charge of arrangements. At mommy's request, there will be no service. She strongly disliked the pain a forever absence left with friends and family. She would prefer to be remembered with laughter and smiles. Please send condolences to 18 Memory Lane, Alum Creek, WV 25003.
